Healthcare Scheduling Project

Virtual Team Exercise

Part of the vendor implementation team is not working on-site at the hospital. You're concerned that some of the team members aren't appropriately engaged with the project. One of the vendor developers rarely says anything on the team calls. You aren't sure whether the developer is simply quiet by nature, doesn't have anything to share, or is uncomfortable about something with the project.

What steps can you take to determine the developer's engagement?
